BUREAU OF CENSUS ASKS INFORMATION

Seeks Facts About the Ownership of Homes and Amount of Encumbrance.

The Census Bureau is now in the midst of an investigation to ascertain the amount of the encumbrances on homes. This inquiry is made in compliance with the requirements of the Act of Congress approved March 3, 1919. It is desired to show the total number of homes in each city that are rented, the number that are owned free of mortgage, the number that are subject to mortgage indebtedness and the amount of such indebtedness.

Schedules of inquiry calling for this information have been sent to all of the persons reported as owning homes subject to mortgage, but unfortunately, a large number of the citizens have not replied to the official request. "We imagine," says the director of the census, "that this indifference on their part is due to the fact that they do not appreciate the importance of the statistics. Two requests have already been sent to your citizens. A third request is now about to be mailed."

"The law providing for this inquiry contains a penalty for refusal to furnish the information but it has not been our practice to enforce this penalty and we hope it will not be necessary to depart from it. I believe that your citizens will give more prompt attention to the inquiry if they are assured that their replies will be treated as strictly confidential."

"This is a very important inquiry. The statistics will go far toward showing actual conditions that are existing in the different sections of the country."
